

WELL-BEING SELLS MISERY

She Goes Among the Starving People in the State of Nebraska.

BEEF EXTRACT GREATLY NEEDED. Hundreds of Families Who Have Little Else than Fresh Air on Which to Feed.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO WHAT TO SEND. Pathetic Experience of a Man Who Makes His Home in a Hole in the Ground and Who is in Hard Luck.

(Special Correspondence of The World.) Boyd County, Neb., Jan. 24.—In this there is a well-organized committee that call themselves the Boyd County Central Relief Commission. They have three competent people on the main board, and one of them is a woman. Their county consists of eight precincts and they formed sub-committees of three each to make house-to-house visits in their individual precincts.

The Central Committee went systematically to work to get aid. They do not countenance solicitors, but send out printed circulars stating their needs. Up to date they have received four or five loads of provisions as the result of their work. The State Relief Committee have given them only two and a half carloads so far.

When the cars reach Stuart, the nearest railway station, the committee go among the farmers and get them to go for the goods. They pay the hotel and barn expenses of these men and give each man for his labor and team 100 pounds of flour.

That amount of flour they value at $1.50. For this these men are glad to make the trip, a matter of 100 miles before they get there and back. Of course, it means two or three days' travel. The road is very bad in places, as I know, and the horses, having been without grain since last spring, are fit for nothing but to be shot. The poor animals have almost died from exhaustion.

When the provisions finally reach Stuart they are divided equally and fairly into eight portions, and given to the eight sub-committees for their respective precincts. It would seem that, so far as charity, the best thing that can be done is to give only to the deserving.

Of course, they are at a great expense. Every carload of stuff arrives with heavy freight charges. They must be paid before the goods are released. In this country, where people are getting business strips on treat, it is no easy task to find enough cash to meet expenses.

The expenses alone for transport, from the railroad and back again to the homes, is considerable. Even the two cars which were to take the goods to Stuart, the Lincoln came with freight charges of $100. The Elkhorn road has been very nice in the matter so far, but they are concerned, but the other railroads that take the goods there are not so charitable.

out of bed and put on some of my heavy clothing. Before we had gone far, each additional garment would succeed in giving me warmth. Before we had gone far, each additional garment would succeed in giving me warmth. Before we had gone far, each additional garment would succeed in giving me warmth.

WHY SHE COULDN'T LAUGH. It looked funny, but I couldn't laugh. My face was frozen stiff. I could only smile in a faint, ghostly way. I could only smile in a faint, ghostly way.

Then I saw that man. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside.

Without a word he stepped up to me. "You ain't much fire, but you can cook with the hottest reply," he said. "You ain't much fire, but you can cook with the hottest reply," he said.

Then I looked at the man before me. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside.

There was no clothes about the place. It was very evident that all the man had on was a pair of trousers. Unshaved and dressed in a pair of trousers that comes from insufficient food, the man was indeed an object of pity.

"How did you get the flour?" I asked. "I traded two pigs for the last sack," he replied. "I traded two pigs for the last sack," he replied.

THE BACH'S HISTORY. He worked as his father had, all his life, but even living closely, he was never rich. He worked as his father had, all his life, but even living closely, he was never rich.

section of land, but he has not wave did last summer, and absolutely ruin lay in wait. But the "back" did not despair. He wrote the old folks that they had to have a good year. Besides he had 30 chickens, some down and a good team.

THE PHAIRIE FIRE. He had harvested some and was completing the rest, when one day he saw a fire flame racing across the prairie. He stood in horror, ready to flee with what was upon him. Then he grabbed his violin and fled, followed by his dog.

He wrote home again. He bade the old folks to get good cheer—things must change and luck could not run away. He went to work and dug a hole in the ground, two feet deep and covered it all with a roof of sod and twigs and a blanket of straw.

Then I saw that man. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside.

Without a word he stepped up to me. "You ain't much fire, but you can cook with the hottest reply," he said. "You ain't much fire, but you can cook with the hottest reply," he said.

Then I looked at the man before me. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside. He was a God-forsaken object, a man that came west to get rich, and who lives like a hermit upon a hillside.

There was no clothes about the place. It was very evident that all the man had on was a pair of trousers. Unshaved and dressed in a pair of trousers that comes from insufficient food, the man was indeed an object of pity.

"How did you get the flour?" I asked. "I traded two pigs for the last sack," he replied. "I traded two pigs for the last sack," he replied.

MAYOR STRONG'S MEN. Plums That Are to Be Picked When Power-of-Removal Ripens Them.

WHO THE PROBABLE APPOINTEES ARE. His Honor Refuses to Say Anything, but, as Usual, a "Little Bird" Tells the Story.

COLD COMFORT FOR BOSS PLATT & CO. The Business Mayor Wants Business Men, and It is Said They Have Finally Yielded to Friendly Pressure.

Mayor Strong returned the Power-of-Removal bill to Gov. Adams Saturday night, with his recommendation attached, and it is expected that the Governor's signature-to-day will change the bill into a law. If it does, the anxiety of a great many people will be at an end.

While the Mayor himself maintained yesterday, as he has from the outset, the utmost secrecy as to whom he proposed to appoint, those who have the best chance of knowing what the following are among the most probable appointees:

Excise Department—C. H. Woolman, Joseph Murray. Park Department—Charles H. Cyster, Cyrus Clark and John S. Keimig. Commissioner of Public Works—William Brookfield.

What, it is understood, is as far as the Mayor will go this week. The third man in the Excise Department had not yet been decided upon yesterday.

Charles Woolman, who has been practicing law in several places, and who has been in the Excise Department for some time, is a Democrat. Mr. Platt's chances of controlling the Excise Board are slim, unless he can get the support of the other members of the board.

SUPPLIES FOR THE DESTITUTE LOST. Twenty Carloads Sent from the East to Nebraska Not Delivered and Cannot Be Found.

(Special to The World.) LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 10.—Notwithstanding the appointment by the Governor last week of an inspector to keep cars of food aid for the destitute of Nebraska, the supplies for the relief of Nebraska's destitute from an unnecessary accumulating on side tracks and the selection of a Senatorial committee to keep the Relief Commission from going to sleep, complaints of failure to relieve many worthy destitute continue to pour in from Lincoln.

While the Mayor himself maintained yesterday, as he has from the outset, the utmost secrecy as to whom he proposed to appoint, those who have the best chance of knowing what the following are among the most probable appointees:

Excise Department—C. H. Woolman, Joseph Murray. Park Department—Charles H. Cyster, Cyrus Clark and John S. Keimig. Commissioner of Public Works—William Brookfield.

What, it is understood, is as far as the Mayor will go this week. The third man in the Excise Department had not yet been decided upon yesterday.

Charles Woolman, who has been practicing law in several places, and who has been in the Excise Department for some time, is a Democrat. Mr. Platt's chances of controlling the Excise Board are slim, unless he can get the support of the other members of the board.

While the Mayor himself maintained yesterday, as he has from the outset, the utmost secrecy as to whom he proposed to appoint, those who have the best chance of knowing what the following are among the most probable appointees:

Excise Department—C. H. Woolman, Joseph Murray. Park Department—Charles H. Cyster, Cyrus Clark and John S. Keimig. Commissioner of Public Works—William Brookfield.

YOUNG GIRLS. INTERESTING CONCLUSIONS. Mothers Agree on One Vital Subject.

Young girls, to the thinking mind, are ever subjects of the deepest interest. Some of the latest conclusions reached by the mothers of the young girls of this city, in regard to their education, are of interest to all parents.

While the Mayor himself maintained yesterday, as he has from the outset, the utmost secrecy as to whom he proposed to appoint, those who have the best chance of knowing what the following are among the most probable appointees:

Excise Department—C. H. Woolman, Joseph Murray. Park Department—Charles H. Cyster, Cyrus Clark and John S. Keimig. Commissioner of Public Works—William Brookfield.

What, it is understood, is as far as the Mayor will go this week. The third man in the Excise Department had not yet been decided upon yesterday.

Charles Woolman, who has been practicing law in several places, and who has been in the Excise Department for some time, is a Democrat. Mr. Platt's chances of controlling the Excise Board are slim, unless he can get the support of the other members of the board.

While the Mayor himself maintained yesterday, as he has from the outset, the utmost secrecy as to whom he proposed to appoint, those who have the best chance of knowing what the following are among the most probable appointees:

Excise Department—C. H. Woolman, Joseph Murray. Park Department—Charles H. Cyster, Cyrus Clark and John S. Keimig. Commissioner of Public Works—William Brookfield.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

Colleges, Schools, &c. A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Bookkeeping, arithmetic, shorthand, stenography, commercial law, spelling, geography, English, history, civics, penmanship, bookbinding, printing, etc.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.

For Sale. One Time, 50c per line; Second Time, 25c per line; Third and Subsequent Times, 10c per line.